City of Tucson Election^{3/4} November 8, 2005

Arguments may be filed for or against Proposition 100 or Proposition 400

Proposition 100 - Referred by the Citizens' Commission on Public Service and Compensation: A proposed amendment to the Tucson Charter relating to salaries of the Mayor and Council as recommended by the Citizens' Commission on Public Service Compensation.

Proposition 400 – Proposed Alternative Expenditure Limitation – Home Rule Option (Arizona Constitution, Article IX, Section 20, Paragraph 9). At their August 2 meeting, the Mayor and Council voted to place a proposition on the ballot regarding an alternative expenditure limitation (home rule option), because revenues—and the corresponding need for City services—are anticipated to exceed the state-imposed limit. Under the home rule option, the City's voters can authorize Mayor and Council, for a period of four fiscal years, to annually set alternative expenditure limits as established by the annual City budget. Voters can reapprove the alternative limit after four years.

The arguments will be included in the sample ballot / publicity pamphlet, distributed to each household with an elector eligible to participate in the November 8 Election.
